A MESSAGE FROM ROB SCOTT - Southland District Councillor. Little did we know at the start of March how different our lives were going to be for the next few months, and potentially years.

As we went into Level 4 at the end of March, our resilient Northern Southland community hunkered down into a new way of life for an unknown period in time. In true Southland fashion, we all adapted really well to the revised way of life, with only a few essential services open.

Walking through the centre of town at any time of the day was surreal, with hardly a car on the usually busy roads, and an eerie silence to the normally bustling railway station carpark. Lines outside the 4 Square with people wearing gloves and masks. Having conversations 2 metres apart became the new norm.

Traditions like ANZAC day were carried on as well, albeit a bit differently. Children and families made wonderful tributes, and if you listened closely through the rain you may have heard the lone piper playing.

A Facebook group connected those online with a place to share stories, advise and also to hear our talented locals play live music.

Our strong community spirit endured, with us all looking out for each other, and with the wonderful support from our essential services, the 4 Square, the Pharmacy, the Medical Centre, the NSCRCCT, those supporting our farmers, and our emergency services we came through as a community.

A special thanks to all of those people who helped out to come out the other side of this, and I feel we can all collectively pat ourselves on the back.
